Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

UNDERGROUND rumors are being spread in this city attacking the character of Carl Bailey, candidate for attorney general. You can do one of two things: Believe what you hear, although no one is willing to put it into print and make themselves responsible for it—or, you can take time to figure out where these rumors are coming from.

U. S. Export Trade Increases; Japan Is Best Customer

June Continues Steady Advance Over Last Year's Figures

BUT THREE DECLINE

Our Business Drops With France, Italy and Germany

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Unusually large increases in cotton sales to the Far East and Russia were said by officials Monday to account for a major portion of the nation's export gain in June as compared with June 1933. Trade by countries showed unusual increases in exports to Japan, Russia and China, and a substantial portion of the gain was cotton. Sales to Canada by the United States also increased sharply, and this was accounted for on a relative basis by their approximately even foreign exchange.

Steady improvement in As a whole, the statistics indicated a continuance of improvement in exports to most important countries, although this was not the case in several instances. The United States sold less to France this year in June than last, and similarly Germany and Italy bought less.

The decline in sales to Germany as compared with last year both in June and May was said to indicate Germany's intensive efforts to reduce her unfavorable balance, and reluctance of foreign traders to negotiate in the face of Germany's exchange situation.

American exports to Russia were more than seven times over the $24,000 of June last year, reaching $1,765,000. In May, the gain was approximately four times over last year.

Roosevelt Visits Drouth-Hit Areas

President Speaks to Citizens of the Northwest Country

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT to Washington.—(AP)—In the blistering heat of the parched Northwest Monday, President Roosevelt tackled the drouth—a calamity assuming proportions which deeply concerned him and his aides.

Traveling across northern Montana with a late afternoon stop to motor to the federal power and reclamation dam at Fort Peck, on the upper Missouri, Mr. Roosevelt saw and heard of the results of the rain shortage.

Federal officials hearing the special train assured the president there is no danger of famine, but reported the drouth persistently is spreading its devastation.

"We have to provide in the days to come," Mr. Roosevelt told the throng surrounding his train at Havre, Mont., "for the elimination of the causes of not only drouth, but of the conditions that cause from drouth."

26,039,003 Persons Affected
Lawrence Westbrook, assistant to Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, reported upon boarding the presidential special that the drouth so widespread to 21 states and affects about 26,000,000 persons. He believed more than the $250,000,000 already allocated by the president and congress would be required to meet the problem.

The whole situation gave the president a long time to think about it. (Continued on Page Three)

Prison Comrades Held for Murder of Arkansas Man

Two Accused at Louisiana Pen of Killing Fred England

THROAT IS SLASHED

Fellow Convicts Angered Because Hired Prison Break

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Two Angola State Pen farm convicts Tuesday were charged with murdering Fred England, convict, in his cell Monday night.

England's throat was cut after he gave information about a planned prison break.

England was a former Arkansas convict, being sent up in that state from Ouchita county.

Slain in Cell
Baton Rouge, La.—(AP)—Penitentiary authorities late Monday reported the slaying of Fred England, 37, a convict of the state penitentiary at Angola, apparently for having given information on plans for a prison break.

R. L. Himes, penitentiary manager, said that England, who was serving a 10-year sentence for breaking and entering from La Salle parish, was found with his throat slashed in his cell in Camp "G" after guards had heard him scream.

An old case knife was found near him. There were more than 200 other convicts in the cellhouse at the time, through the bars of his cell and cut him, Himes said.

The prison manager said England recently had given information to the penitentiary authorities regarding a planned break, and expressed opinion that the convict was killed out of resentment of prisoners who conspired to make the attempt for freedom.

England, a native of Winfield, La., was received February 3, 1931. Penitentiary records showed he previously was a convict in the Arkansas penitentiary.

Fred England was convicted in 1925 in Ouchita Circuit Court of burglary and grand larceny and was sentenced to three years in prison. He escaped from the state farm near Tucker May 19, 1926, and was recaptured June 19, 1928. He was released at the expiration of his term, March 3, 1930. His home was at Junction City.

Federal Reserve Chain Under Fire

Central Federal Bank of Issue May Replace It

Copyright Associated Press
WASHINGTON—Creation of a central bank of issue, which would take over function of the Federal Reserve System and lodge control of credit and currency directly with the government, was said by officials Monday to be under consideration for presentation to the next congress.

The matter probably will be presented to President Roosevelt upon his return to the capital. The house banking committee last session was prepared to report a measure for a central monetary authority but the plan was dropped after a trip to the White House.

Secretary Morgenthau opposed similar measures last session, asking more time to determine Treasury policy with regard to a central bank.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The appointment of 1,835 additional regular employees in the large post-offices over the country was announced Tuesday by Postmaster General Farley.

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—(AP)—Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austrian throne, left his Belgian exile by automobile Tuesday. It was announced he was headed for Italy to join his mother, the Empress Zita, who has been there for three weeks. It was considered in informal circles that the trip was connected with matrimonial rather than political plans. Otto's name has been frequently linked with Princess Maria, youngest daughter of the Italian royal family.

Big Crowd Hears County Candidates

Audience Packs Baptist Church Lawn Here Monday Night

Hempstead county candidates, entering the last lap of a spirited campaign, fired blasts at each other before a crowd of over 1,000 persons here Monday night.

The candidates spoke from the lawn of First Baptist church. The overflowing crowd filled every available seat. Many stood in the streets and sat in parked automobiles.

The speaking started at 8:30, soon after church services, and continued past midnight. Wash Hutson introduced the speakers and acted as master of ceremonies.

Leading off the rally were candidates for sheriff, involving a five-cornered sprint for that office. The liquor question, loose law enforcement and qualifications for a peace officer were the main issues the five aspirants discussed.

Next on the list were candidates for tax assessor, including several. Unaccustomed to public speaking, several of the candidates in facing the large audience showed signs of stage fright and jumpy voices, but when the list narrowed down to the county judges race greater interest was shown.

Speakers for the county judge's election, proved to be more spirited than the others. Each candidate "opened up" and the crowd was entertained with much mud-slinging.

Speakers for other races provided much interest. The candidates were at Blevins Tuesday. DeAnn will be visited Wednesday. Piney Grove Thursday and Washington Friday.

The campaign will end with a rally here Monday night, August 13.

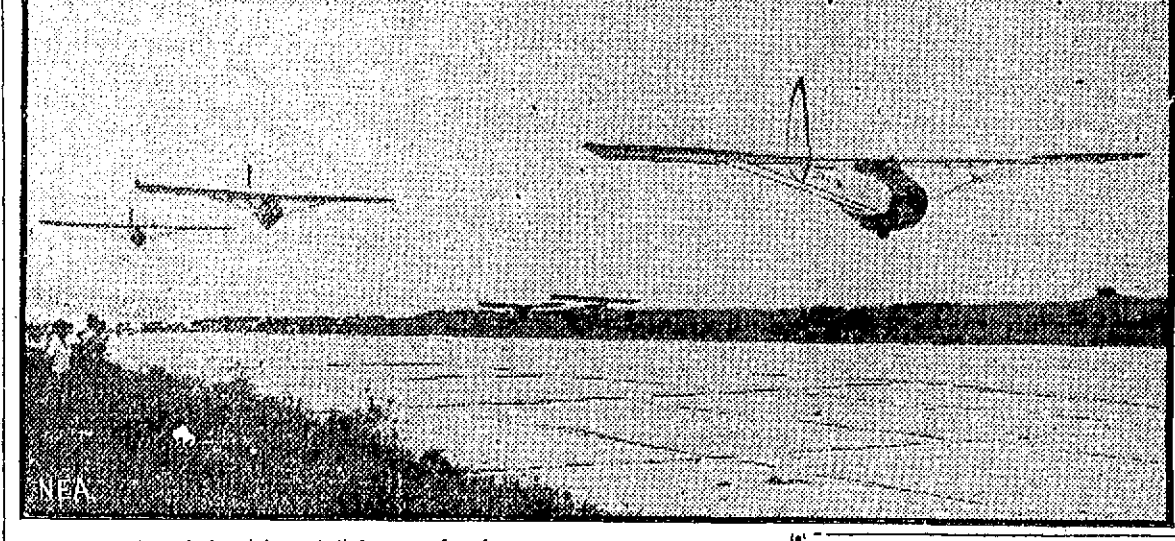

Lumbermen Fear Breakup of Code

Hardwood Institute Head Says It Would Lose Millions

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Following reference will mill operators here and an exchange of messages between officials of the National Lumbermen's Code Authority, Inc., and the Hardwood Manufacturers' Institute, J. H. Townsend, the institute's secretary-manager Monday issued a statement defending all code provisions and declaring that a break in the code would result in "government loss of millions of dollars of lumber values."

Townsend's statement was released while certain mill men were considering the organization of an association to protect against cost protection prices of the code.

They Make a Flying-Switch

Advocates of the "air train" for the development of commercial aviation have proved their idea feasible, although bad weather halted the initial flight at Philadelphia. The three "cars," motorless gliders, loaded with 100 pounds of mail for Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, are shown as they took off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, attached by thin steel cables to the airplane "locomotive." One glider was scheduled to land at each city on the route, the "locomotive plane" making a non-stop flight to Washington.

Algerian Program Halted by Troops

100 Dead, 200 Wounded in Clash of Arabs and Jews

CONSTANTINE, Algeria.—(AP)—Religious riots that threatened to become a program appeared halted by the military occupation of the city Tuesday.

But it was feared the funerals of 27 of the known dead might incite further violence.

It was estimated 100 were killed and 200 wounded in three days of fighting.

The muslims made fierce raids on the Jewish quarter during the violence.

100 Dead
CONSTANTINE, Algeria.—(AP)—Authorities estimated that at least 100 persons were massacred in Constantine alone after a savage fighting broke out late Monday in the religious war between the Jews and the Arabs.

Martial law was declared Monday night and Senegalese troops were attempting to restore order to Constantine and the nearby port of Philippeville.

Special troops were bringing all available troops into the city. Machine guns were set up in strategic spots throughout the Jewish quarter, and patrols of soldiers were marching through the principal streets. Military authority ordered that all traffic cease and cafes were closed.

All the members of two Jewish families were reported to have been killed, women and children being among the victims. Witnesses said afterward their bodies were mutilated.

Shots from a Jewish home caused the battle to flare anew after authorities thought calm had been restored. The Arabs retaliated by setting fire to five buildings and putting to death a number of Jews.

Strict censorship by French authorities, who feared the fighting would spread to other parts of Algeria, prevented disclosure of full details by police. Killings were also reported at Mamma, Jannapet and Bizet.

Angry Poles Lock Up Frenchmen in Deep Coal Shaft

Police Lose Communication With Imprisoned Men at Lens

17 VIRGINIANS DIE

Death Shaft at Stone Gap Mine Finally Cleared of Victims

LENS, France.—(AP)—Two hundred miners were trapped Tuesday in a deep coal mine where they were first imprisoned Monday by a group of Polish miners in protest of the discharge of two comrades.

Police guards surrounded the shaft, but communication ceased Monday.

17 Virginians Dead
DERBY, Va.—(AP)—An all-night vigil at the Stone Gap Coke & Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine ended early Tuesday morning when rescue workers brought out the body of the last of 17 victims of Monday's explosion.

With all workers who were in the mine accounted for, it was left deserted.

Fans are displacing the monoxide gas with fresh air.

Five men injured in the explosion are expected to recover.

Baptist Revival at 8 p. m. Tuesday

Quartet Program Will Be Preliminary, Beginning at 7:45

The revival service at First Baptist church will begin Tuesday night at 8 o'clock after a preliminary quartet program of fifteen minutes, beginning at 7:45. The hour was changed Monday night in order to allow the political rally to be held on the lawn after the meeting, but the revival will return Tuesday night to the regular schedule.

The enthusiasm of the meeting continues to grow, and larger audiences are attending each night. There have been many responses to the invitation for people to accept Christ, and there have been many additions to the First Baptist church.

The revival is being conducted by the pastor of the church, at the church, but it is not in any sense a meeting which discriminates between denominations. People of all congregations are helping by their presence, and it is the desire of First Baptist church that many will find Christ and will go into the church of their choice.

No effort is made to influence people to leave their own inclinations in the matter of church membership.

The sermon subject for Tuesday night will be "Why Will Ye Die?" The morning worship begins at 9 o'clock and takes place in the auditorium of the church.

Lawyer Killed by Woman in Texas

Seamstress Shoots Down 64-Year-Old Attorney

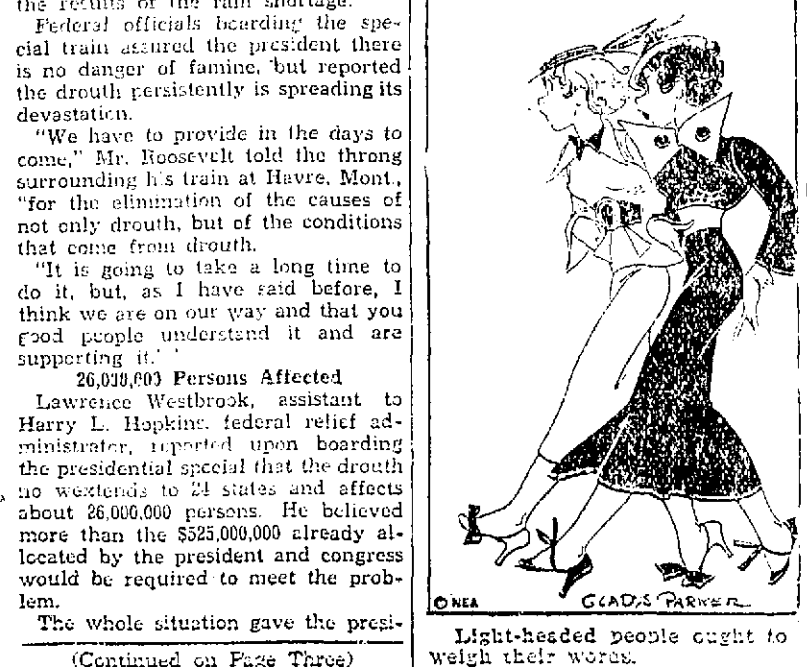

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—(AP)—A murder complaint was filed Monday against Mrs. Gladys Rice, 40, a widow, shortly after shooting Ben H. Kelley, 64, a lawyer, had died of wounds received from a pistol at a busy street intersection.

Police said they took a smoking pistol from Mrs. Rice's hands immediately after the shooting and quoted her as saying financial affairs led to the shooting. She said she was a seamstress.

Detective Captain Aubrey Hopkins, who questioned Mrs. Rice said she spoke of financial troubles lasting over a period of five years.

A moment after the shooting an unidentified woman, dressed in white, stepped up to Mrs. Rice and struck her a stinging blow in the face. Persons nearby grabbed the woman, but turned her loose when Mrs. Rice said to them:

"Let her go—she doesn't know what this man has done to me."

Your Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Children Suffer Most From Unclean Food

Most of the trouble with babies in hot weather you'll find due to lack of care in handling their food. And since their food is mostly milk, you should pay particular attention to your baby's milk supply.

It is not surprising that thousands of babies die from diarrheal disease in hot weather, in the old days, because their milk came in open vessels and was ladled out into an open bucket. It was contaminated by flies and dust.

Nowadays, the milkman leaves a step, but even with this sanibuck-bottle of cold, pure milk on your doorstep, but even with this sanitary delivery you should take the milk in as soon as possible, for the sun can heat it and multiply greatly the number of bacteria it contains.

Milk in warm places simply will not keep satisfactorily. In a refrigerator it will keep for a long time.

If a refrigerator is not available, the milk should be boiled immediately and then placed in the bottle in a shallow pan of water with a cloth wrapped around it so that the cloth dips into the water. This cloth acts as a wick to take up water from the pan and the evaporation of the water from the cloth will keep the milk cool.

It is important not only that the container be clean, but also that every other container used in handling the milk be sterilized by boiling. There is no use in taking clean milk from a sterilizer bottle and then putting it into an insanitary nursing bottle or cup.

Number of cases of infantile intestinal disturbances during the summer, and of deaths from this cause, has been tremendously reduced, but many cases still are brought about by carelessness in the processes that have been mentioned.

If your child is able to eat vegetables, you should include them frequently in the diet during the summer. They need be given only in small quantities.

The vegetables also should be thoroughly cleaned, because they are easily contaminated in handling. If they are properly handled, they are a most useful adjunct to the summer diet.

Fruits are good, too, but they must be ripe. Green fruits can cause serious disturbances.

For very small children, the best drinks in summer, besides plenty of good water, are orange juice, tomato juice, and other fresh fruit juices. For older children, lemonade, orangeade, limeade, and similar drinks also are refreshing.

Complicated, oversweetened drinks, and overstimulating drinks will upset the stomach not only of the child, but even of many adults.

About three-fourths of the diet should be fruits, vegetables, milk and milk dishes. If these are properly prepared out of materials that are clean and wholesome, you need have no fear of intestinal disturbance among your children even in the warmest weather.

This Farce-Comedy Is a Little Heavy
—"It Happened in Park" Just Misses Being Very Funny

About all that you can ask of a light farce-comedy is that it be truly light. When it gets heavy enough to go bumping along the ground it is apt to be pretty hard to read, no matter how entertaining it may be, and he's a monkey all right. This is the trouble with "It Happened in Park" by H. S. Hoff. It is out to be hilarious and carefree—and it drags, every now and then, in a way that takes the edge off its gayer passages.

It has to do with a young Englishman who is sent of a seacoast resort in Yugoslavia to tell tennis racquets. His job is made hard by several factors. First, the Yugoslavians don't seem to care much about tennis. Second, just as he gets started the only other Englishman in town proceeds to teach the natives how to play cricket, and they haven't time to assimilate two foreign games at once. Third, the young racket salesman falls deeply in love with the cricketer's young wife.

By way of complication, there is the added fact that the salesman is very anxious to write a novel—only he can't think of a solitary thing to write

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Good Health Is Secret of Beauty.
Not long ago I talked to a famous artist about what constitutes perfect beauty in woman. Or rather what would constitute perfect beauty, for as he very rightly reminded me, no woman is perfectly beautiful.

The artist refused to give me measurements for beauty. He said it is impossible to say that because you are five feet and a half tall, you must also have certain hip and chest and bust measurements. All that is needed, he declares, is for your measurements to match your individual self.

Your clothing doesn't matter, either, or, or your size, he added. But it is highly important that you have a well-modeled face, that the bony structure be nicely formed, that your eyes be set well in the sockets. Features, he said, to be beautiful, have to be fairly large. You need a generous mouth, a good-sized nose, not too tiny ears.

But this is particularly what I wish to pass along to you. The artist said firmly that no woman is beautiful who is not healthy. Health will show

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE"

By Sophie Kerr

CHAPTER XL
"I live to be ten thousand, or a hundred thousand or a million," said Alice Moreland. "I'll never forget the day you and Howard came home after he'd been sick with pneumonia, and you'd just got him to bed when I came dashing over to tell you that Edgar'd been captured by the Germans and I was so happy because he wouldn't have to fight any more and I could send him proper food and things. We stood there hugging each other and laughing with joy, because your husband was threatened with tuberculosis and mine was a prisoner of war! My dear, weren't we funny!"

"And that," said Amy, "was 15 years ago."

"I don't realize it until I look at the children. Nancy, a young lady, with suitors simply standing in line, and Howard Second as tall as his father, and my Virginia almost 14 and pouting because I won't let her carry a vanity case, and young Ned entering grammar school next fall. They make me feel old as the hills."

"You don't look old, Alice. You don't look much older than Virginia."

"If I could only thin down a little! The styles are all so slimmy—not that I can afford any new clothes. I'm going to sew ruffles on all my last summer dresses and wear them again. I've got to. I told Edgar if he said one more word about business being bad I'd go out and buy me a whole new outfit, and he said, all right, it'll look swell in the poorhouse."

Amy laughed. "The faculty's about due for another out, so I won't be getting anything new either. I'll have to fix up something for the Commencement parties, though, but I think I can find a piece of lace or chiffon over in Hopsonville and use my old blue satin for a slip. Nancy must have a couple of frocks, too."

"That young English instructor—what's his name—Carver—is giving Nancy a big rush, isn't he?" And Victor Gates, too, the one the boys call Vee Gates. But I thought, the other night at the Berwyns' party, that Nancy favored the instructor."

"I don't know, Alice. They come and go too fast for me to keep their ratings straight."

"Nancy's just like you, Amy. Edgar always says you had all the beaux in Marburg when you were a girl. She must have inherited it."

Amy looked at her visitor oddly. "You forget," she said, "Nancy's not my own daughter."

"I always forget it! She seems like your own. Well, her mother must have been a heart-breaker, too."

WITH a flash of memory Amy recalled that none of the Marburg young men had ever liked Jane. They didn't go to see her nor take her about. But she could not tell that to Alice for Alice did not know whose child Nancy was. The secret had been well kept.

Nancy herself had asked, once, and Amy had said that all she could tell her was that her real mother was a beautiful and clever woman, whose circumstances wouldn't permit her to keep her child.

For a moment Amy wished that she had not brought up the subject with Alice. She was very fond of Alice and their neighborly intimacy had always gone on without any hitches or breaks, hurt feelings or slight misunderstandings. But Alice's nose for news was sometimes a bit too sharp.

"Everybody expects Howard will be the new dean," she said, "when the trustees meet. Do you want him to be, Amy? Won't it be pretty much of a chore for you?"

"I shan't count my chores before I know I've got to do them. Nothing's settled—so I can't say anything."

"Well, I know, but with all you do anyway—choral class and glee club coaching and the women's choir and the concert series and private pupils, and there's such a lot of required entertaining in the dean's house. Of course Howard would be perfectly splendid, and everyone hopes he'll get it. Me, I'd like to see him president of the college—I just thought it would be quite a load for you. I've always noticed that it's the faculty women who get the mean part of a big job—I've said to Edgar hundreds of times that I'm glad he's a coal dealer. But now, with business so bad, well, the college professors do get fixed salaries."

"I wish they were a little more fixed. They've been sliding backward for two years now. But I needn't complain. We do very well even if we don't swagger in sables any, and I'll be in limousines, as Nancy says. She glanced at the clock. "You come along out in the kitchen with me while I mix up some quick gingerbread," she said. "I have to go to the glee club rehearsal and I'll just have time to bake it."

"I'd better get along home and make some myself. Do you use the soda and sour cream recipe?"

"I haven't any sour cream today, so I'll jazz it up with a cup of raisins. Young Howard loves it that way."

As soon as Alice was out of the door, Amy hurried to the kitchen and her mixing bowl.

NANCY opened the door, little green back cocked over one ear, eyes very bright, cheeks very pink.

"What have you been up to? You look so monkeyish! Hand me the raisins."

Nancy giggled. "You're looking at Marburg's most popular gal, my lamb. So far four lads have tried to date me for the first dance out at the Lake Club. Vee Gates, first, Bill Dowling, second, Red Purdy, third, and who d'you think was the fourth? No less than the distinguished bachelor, Mr. James Trainor, lawyer, banker, man about town—and, so

"All this," declared the artist, "will avail a woman nothing if she has not a soul, spirit, call it what you will, that is somewhere behind her eyes and shines through them."

The only thing he didn't tell me was how one is to get that thing which must shine behind the eyes. But you know, don't you, that you get it by thinking pleasant thoughts, stifling envy, spitefulness and malice, and doing unto others as you'd have others do unto you?

HEAT TESTED AT DEATH VALLEY

here's what happened...

On a sun-scorched desert track at Death Valley, two popular priced automobiles were subjected to the most brutal punishment ever conceived to test the quality of motor oil.

Imagine running 1,000 miles in low gear... 1,000 miles in second gear... then 10 hours without radiator or water... mile after mile without stop!

With the thermometer sizzling around 130 degrees, motor temperatures jumped terrifically, beyond anything you'll ever experience.

Yet, protected by Mobilil, both motors functioned perfectly! No power loss... no bearing failures... no scored cylinders... no motor trouble!

dent and government officers opportunity to re-emphasize the administration program for redistribution of population to workable territory.

Senator Wheeler of Montana, Governor Cooney and Representative Manganham traveled across the state with the president and state relief officers joined the drought conference aboard the train.

Wide Area in Belt
From his car window, Mr. Roosevelt observed the first reaches of the growing expanse of parched soil, barren to all possibilities of producing crops for this year and possibly next year. Westbrook produced maps showing 80 per cent of the United States encompassed in the black area designating the drought region.

Regarding the movement of farmers from much of this unproductive region to places where normal conditions offer a better chance of livelihood, he said:

"If we can get this readjustment, figures may yet be recorded on the right side of the ledger." At least 25 per cent of the people on sub-marginal lands of the Northwest states are expected to be guided to new places, he said.

The president throughout the all-day ride across northern Montana to Glasgow worked with his aides, principally the drought expert, Westbrook, and Secretary of War Dorn, who has charge of river developments, Secretary Ickes, Public Works administrator, left the special to continue his studies in the Far West.

Two of the president's sons, James and Franklin, also left the train Monday morning to fly East by regular plane routes. John, the youngest son, continued on with the train.

Earl Eastridge Hired Him to Do Shooting, Says Negro

LITTLE ROCK—A Union county farmer was arrested Monday in Bentonville on suspicion that he conspired to kill his father.

The suspect is Earl Eastridge, 37. He was taken into custody by Sheriff G. L. Marples of Benton county at the request of Sheriff Grady Woolley of Union county, who said Eastridge was implicated in the murder of his father, John F. Eastridge, 64, by a negro who confessed the actual slaying.

The negro, Miles Green, 46, confessed Friday at Little Rock police headquarters, and said he was offered $100 to do the killing by Earl Eastridge. Sheriff Woolley, Deputy B. A. Hancock and Prosecuting Attorney Alvin Stevens, who obtained the confession from Green when they brought him to Little Rock to be questioned by Chief of Detectives James A. Pitcock, went to Bentonville Monday to return Eastridge to El Dorado.

Eastridge, who formerly lived on a Benton county farm, was said to have spent Sunday night at Bentonville. He was quoted as saying he became panicky after his father's slaying and went to Bentonville to be with friends. Sheriff Marples said the man was writing a letter to relatives at El Dorado when arrested.

The slaying of the elder Eastridge occurred at his home 20 miles southwest of El Dorado last Thursday. Green, who volunteered the confession as the group entered the city hall here Friday, said the younger Eastridge told him his father "had to be killed" and added "if you won't, I'll have to do it myself."

He declared Earl Eastridge, after first broaching the subject a month ago, suggested method after method for the slaying.

Missouri Father and Three Sons Jailed Following Shooting

KENNET, Mo. (AP)—A father and his three sons were in the county jail here Monday charged with first degree murder of Tom Higgins, 25, a laborer who was shot to death as he sat in his automobile at Clarkston late Sunday.

In jail are C. M. Beck, 53, and his sons, Emory, 31, Louis 22, and William 27.

County authorities expressed the belief that the Beck boys objected to Higgins' attentions to their sister. Jim Nettleton testified at a coroner's inquest that the killing followed an argument. The Becks left, he said, and returned shortly, the three sons armed with revolvers. Nettleton said that William Beck fired two shots into Higgins' body.

"That's enough," he quote d the father as saying.

Louis, however, fired "at least one shot and Emory one or two shots," Nettleton testified.

When officers went to the Beck home they aid that Emory surrendered his pistol. The other pistols, the officers said, were found under a mattress.

Strikers Threaten to Retaliate If Troops Aren't Upheld

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(AP)—The decision of the United States district court on whether Governor Olson is to be enjoined from continuing military rule here during the truck-drivers' strike was deferred Tuesday until Thursday.

Meanwhile more than 3,000 truckers were issued permits to drive. Strike leaders threatened a renewal of picketing should the court rule that troops in the city are without legal authority and an attempt is made to move the trucks before termination of the walkout.

Ted Womble Goes to Dallas Steers

Hope Pitcher Signed Up for Trial by Texas League Club

Ted Womble, Hope Stork baseball pitcher and son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Womble of this city, Tuesday put his name on a contract to pitch for the Dallas Steers in the Texas league.

Womble, with 14 victories and four defeats behind him leaves Thursday to join the Steers in Dallas. Womble has pitched for the Storks and several independent clubs this summer.

Hurling a two-hit game for Taylor against Shreveport several days ago first attracted a Dallas scout. Womble's subsequent work on the mound led to the signing of the contract.

Womble is a left-hander. His salary terms were not made public. Dallas held fifth position in the Texas league Tuesday.

Womble was recommended to the Steers by Wilmer Mallett, former Rochester, (N. Y.) player, here as a scout.

AFTER you receive the tobacco from the farmers you have to dry it just right and then store it away for ageing for over two years. Then you take the different types of home-grown and Turkish tobaccos and weld them together in such a way as to make a balanced blend.

The Chesterfield process of blending and cross-blending tobaccos is different from others, and we believe it helps to make a milder and better tasting cigarette.

Down where they grow tobacco—in most places—Chesterfield is the largest selling cigarette.

Hope Is Defeated by Walk in Ninth

Carroll Schooley Forces in Winning Run With Score Tied

Carroll Schooley threw away his own game in the ninth inning when he walked Bob Shelton with the bases loaded and the score tied, giving Southwestern a 6 to 5 victory Sunday afternoon at Texarkana.

Leigh McClendon, Sr., 48-year-old manager of the Stars, almost wrecked Southwestern in the first half of the ninth, replacing Ramsey in the line-up as a pinch-hitter. "Red," as the robust veteran is popularly known, was safe at first when his wallop, seemingly a sure "fly," dropped in the center of three confused Transporters huddled in short field.

Mac Senior's single scored Vernon Schooley, who had singled, and later Raymond Robins doubled to bring in Harrell and Summerville, tying the score at five-all. Summerville ran for the elder McClendon. Only one Star was out at the time, Russell having fouled to Johnson, Southwestern catcher. The league leaders halted any further rally when Robey McClendon also fouled to Johnson and Elliott fled to Gordon in left.

Riley, Hope first sacker, started the Stars' belated rally with an eighth inning home run which also scored Elliott, Jack Harris, Southwestern moundman who backed up the Shipsters in their successful stand against Schooley, allowed only three hits during the first seven innings. He gave up nine to Schooley's dozen. Schooley fanned six men while Harris whiffed half as many, but allowed six walks to Harris' four.

Pitcher Schooley caught Harris drive barchanded and tossed Shelton out at third to choke off a Southwestern threat in the sixth, Harris and the Transporters likewise came out of a hole the next inning, which featured a dispute caused by two successive attempted bunts by Russell, Hope catcher, who finally sacrificed after both had rolled foul and almost fair again, on the third base line.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 19

Referred to the People by the General Assembly in regular session assembled, 1933.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas and by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:

That the following is hereby proposed as an Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Senators and Representatives, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election adopt such Amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

That Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas be amended by adding thereto the following:

SECTION 1. Not less than a majority of the members of each House of the General Assembly may enact a law.

SECTION II. None of the rates for property, taxes, privileges or personal taxes, now levied shall be increased by the General Assembly except after the approval of the qualified electors voting thereon at an election, or in case of an emergency, by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

SECTION III. Excepting monies raised or collected for educational purposes, highway purposes, to pay Confederate pensions and the just debts of the State, the General Assembly is hereby prohibited from appropriating or expending more than the sum of Two and One-half Million Dollars for all purposes, for any biennial period; provided the limit herein fixed may be exceeded by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

SECTION IV. In making appropriations for any biennial period, the General Assembly shall first pass the General Appropriation Bill provided for in Section 30 of Article 5 of the Constitution, and no other appropriation bill may be enacted before that shall have been done.

SECTION V. No expense shall be incurred or authorized for either House except by a bill duly passed by both Houses and approved by the Governor.

The provisions of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in conflict with this Amendment are hereby repealed insofar as they are in conflict herewith, and this Amendment shall be self-executing and shall take and have full effect immediately upon its adoption by the electors of the State.

The above resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas on the 30th day of January, 1933.

Each elector may vote for, or against, the above proposed Amendment.

WITNESS MY HAND and Official seal of this office the 28th day of March, 1934.

ED F. McDONALD, Secretary of State.

PHILADELPHIA — Connie Mack knows the AAA's are loafing, but professes not to know what to do about it.

So just run out to any American League park, pay your $1.65 and then watch the boys loll away the afternoon. Don't blame them. They're discouraged.

Mack doesn't seem to be particularly exercised about the situation. "We wouldn't draw 50,000 more people in Philadelphia during the course of the season were we slambang contenders," explained the tall tactician.

"They wouldn't come out to see us had something out of the ordinary." "It has been that way in Philadelphia ever since I broke it there with the American League in 1901. The fans will follow a club when it is definitely on the way up, but drop it like a hot potato once it scales on the heights."

"It was lack of interest on the part of our patrons that forced me to dispose of Groce, Earnshaw, Walberg, Cochran, Simmons, Haas, Dykes and Bishop. I dislike to sell players as much as anyone."

Succes's Potent Tonic

Returning to the lackadaisical attitude of the AAAAAA's Mack continued: "It's impossible to get the maximum out of any club that realizes that it isn't going anywhere. The players will bear down in streaks, but there are constant slip-ups. They'll have their occasional big inning, but they won't come back when the other side clubs as much, or more, out of their pitching. "It's disheartening, this business of losing. It takes a lot out of a fellow. Being with a winner is the most potent tonic I know of. You sleep and eat well when you're rolling along with a song."

"But I guess I'll have to speak to Roger Cramer the next time he runs to the dugout. Instead of first base when it is apparent that he is to be thrown out in the ninth inning, Cramer has done this several times, and it looks bad. I have been hoping that he would take a tumble to himself."

Mack said that Frank Higgins and Bob Johnson are the only two members of the Philadelphia club who have given their best efforts from the outset.

"That is because Higgins and Johnson are on the upgrade. They are ambitious, and proud of their individual achievements," he asserted.

"Jimmy Fox may think he is playing as well as ever, but he isn't. Balls get through him that shouldn't, and go for base hits and at times he is equally careless at the bat."

Sold Old Ones in Time

Mack declared that Ira Thomas and the remainder of his scouts were on the lookout for batterymen, and that he would like to strike back next year.

"It wouldn't take much to make the AAAAAA's a real club," beamed the dean of managers.

And it wouldn't, for outside of pitching, the Philadelphia entry of 1934 probably is as good, or better, than any other in the junior loop. Mack has a new collection of big, fast and powerful youngsters. It is an organization built for wear and tear.

"Give us Mickey Cochran and give us two or three Grade A pitchers, and we'd be right up there now," went on the lean leader, "but as things turn out, we would have fored no better than the pitchers we peddled." Mack referred to Grove who developed a sore arm; Walberg, who suffered an attack of blood poisoning; and Earnshaw, who has pitched well only in fits and starts.

"All that goes up must come down," observed Mack, by way of stressing the point that it is just as important for a manager to know when a player is going as it is to see one coming.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

Here's ideal vacation reading in a new serial by Mabel McElliott. It's the story of Boots Raeburn, the girl in the picture above. Boots is an attractive, intelligent girl of 18 who makes her way in the world in spite of social snubs and a lack of money. She sets out to find romance, gaiety and happiness. Three men play important roles in her life. She chooses—but wait until you read the story!

Positive Relief for MALARIA!

Sure End to Chills and Fever!

Here's real relief for Malaria—Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic!

Quickly it stops the chills and fever and restores your body to comfort. Many remedies will merely alleviate the symptoms of Malaria temporarily, but Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic goes all the way and completely rids your system of the infection.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is a real corrective of Malaria because it contains two things. First, tasteless quinine which kills the Malarial infection in the blood. Second, tonic iron which helps overcome the ravages of the chills and fever and fortifies against further attack. Play safe! Take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It now comes in two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money. Get bottle today at any store.
